Overview

Amy Drushal is a Shareholder and currently serves on the firm's Executive Board. She is a former practice group leader for the firm's Litigation and Dispute Resolution Group. An experienced trial lawyer, Amy handles cases for clients on a wide variety of complex business, real estate, and employment disputes, as well as in bankruptcy and creditor's rights matters.

Amy serves as co-chair of the firm's Financial Services Industry Team. She defends individual and class action claims brought under the Florida Consumer Collection Practices Act, the Fair Debt Collections Practices Act, the Telephone Consumer Protection Act, the Fair Credit Reporting Act, and other consumer protection statutes.

In employment matters, Amy represents employers in claims brought under the Fair Labor Standards Act, the Florida Minimum Wage Act, in addition to defending employers against discrimination, harassment, and retaliation claims.

Amy represents lenders and other businesses in complex commercial litigation related to contract disputes, enforcement of loans and security interests, fraud, breach of fiduciary duty and other business related claims. She assists lenders in commercial foreclosures of apartment complexes, condominium and townhome projects, retail developments, and office buildings, including defending lenders' affirmative defenses and counterclaims in residential mortgage foreclosure actions. Amy has represented judgment creditors in collection matters, including domestication of foreign judgments, garnishment, replevin, and proceedings supplementary.

Before joining the firm, Amy clerked for the Honorable Elizabeth A. Kovachevich, former Chief Judge of the United States District Court for the Middle District of Florida.
